

Introducing the BioIT Informatics Platform

BioIT Solutions enables its Life Sciences partners to focus on core activities by removing information management obstacles.

Our innovative Informatics Platform transforms many tasks to convenient web-like applications. Customized workflow modules transform complex tasks into routine activities.

We start with rapid deployment of highly configurable core software and tune functionality to streamline your information management processes. The resulting site will express your corporate identity and private label. Next, we create external access points for your customers, vendors, and partners to a central knowledge base. However, each person's view is dynamically generated based on their assigned functions.

Our distinctive Roles-Based Interaction™ provides each stakeholder with easy access to the right information at the right time. Users enjoy an intuitive work bench. Management gains clear visibility and control over their data and activities managed by the platform.

The BioIT Solutions team has hands on expertise with:

- The demanding requirements of genomic research
- The complexity of drug development programs
- The challenges of launching clinical operations
- All aspects of product development functions
