BioIT Solutions Ranked by Insights Success as One of the 50 Most Valuable Tech Companies

SILVER SPRING, MD – January 6, 2016 – BioIT Solutions, a provider of enterprise systems built on the 1Platform4[®] Suite, today announced that Insights Success magazine ranked BioIT Solutions as one of the 50 most valuable tech companies in 2015. BioIT Solutions was selected because of its novel application of Information Systems to solve their customers' business and scientific problems.

BioIT's president, Mike Fannon commented, "This award validates our distinctive approach to delivering IT solutions based on our unique platform and a solid understanding of our customers' science and business processes. It also recognizes the rapid adoption we've experienced during 2015."

BioIT's 1Platform4 Suite enables its customers to quickly model their existing workflows in a manner tuned to their specific technology and work practices. 1Platform4 deployments can span R&D, product development, inventory management, manufacturing, compliance, and sales to enable smooth integration of corporate functions.

To obviate the need for a different application for each function, BioIT developed the 1Platform4 Suite to integrate multiple scientific and business processes in a logical, consistent and responsive work environment. The 1Platform4 Suite supports most functions that a typical life sciences organization uses. The novel software is delivered using a rapid deployment process that begins with an expert review of customer processes and needs. Within a few weeks, customers begin productive work with a basic version of a system, gaining experience and directing adaptations. This method is more effective, flexible and less costly than traditional software development approaches.

Insights Success magazine highlights companies that deliver innovative business solutions and provides information about products, services and the latest technology reviews.
